SUMMARY

Software developer with 2 years of proven experience in delivering scalable, type-safe web and cross-platform applications. Leverages AI-powered workflows to accelerate development cycles, automate boilerplate, and enhance code maintainability. Specialized in the Node.js ecosystem with a solid track record of collaborating with remote, international teams. Adept at tackling complex technical challenges, from integrating medical imaging workflows to designing efficient backend architectures. Focused on writing maintainable, clean code that bridges robust system design with practical product needs.
